As apathy grows and dissatisfaction increases we ask ourselves, as well as each other, that perpetual question - why?

Even the most discerning student at times questions the reasoning behind compulsory attendance to this four-year institution.

We question its purpose - and its benefits.

But if school does not educate, it at least exposes. It gives each of us an opportunity for awareness we might possibly have missed. But perhaps more important, it gives us a chance to evaluate our new awareness.

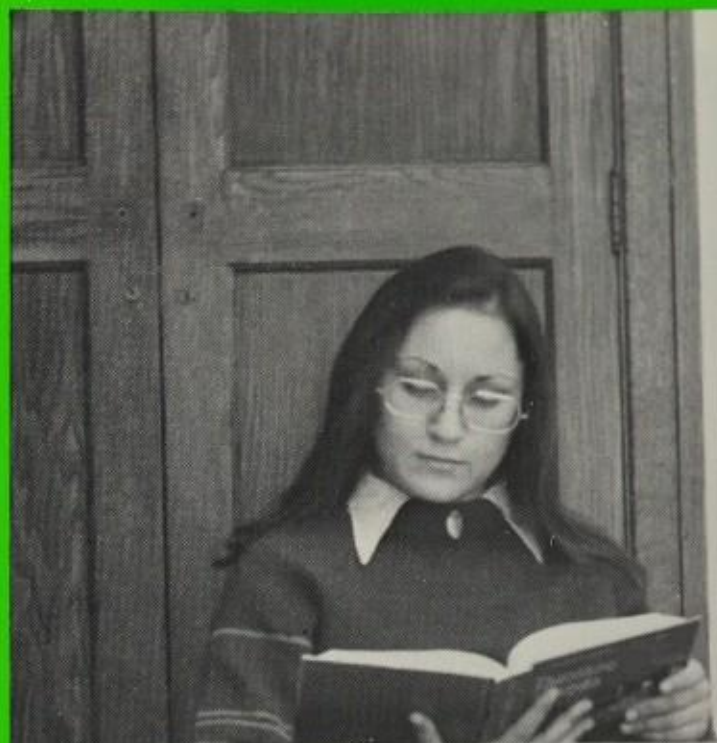

To determine our own interests.
To establish our own priorities.

Although many cannot survive under heavy class schedules, there are those who develop deep involvements in some of the many academic subjects.

We can determine our own interests as we pass through our required courses into more specific majors and minors - to search, in greater depth, for the areas in which we naturally excel.

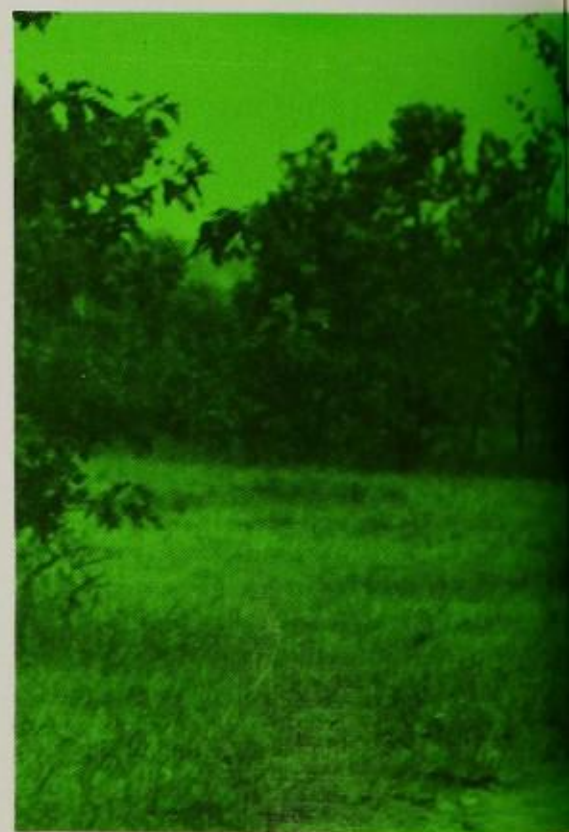

With this search comes the exposure to the fine arts - from which customs and cultures emanate. Culturally based classes and organizations serve to broaden our scope and provide yet another opportunity for achieving proficiency.

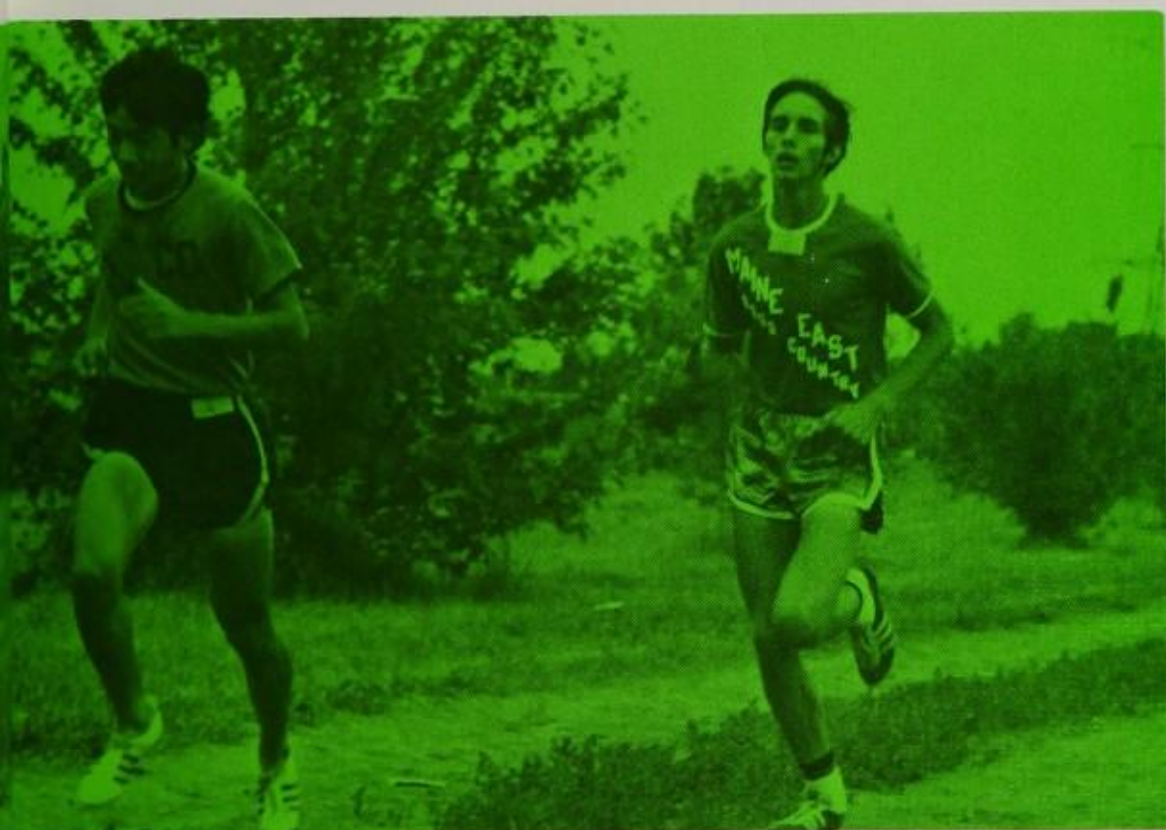

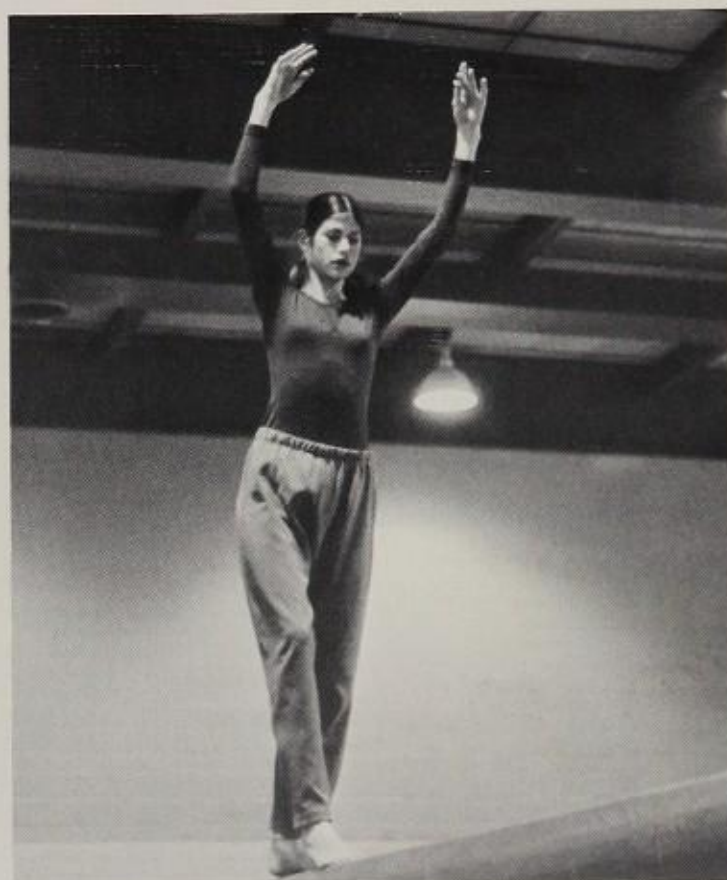

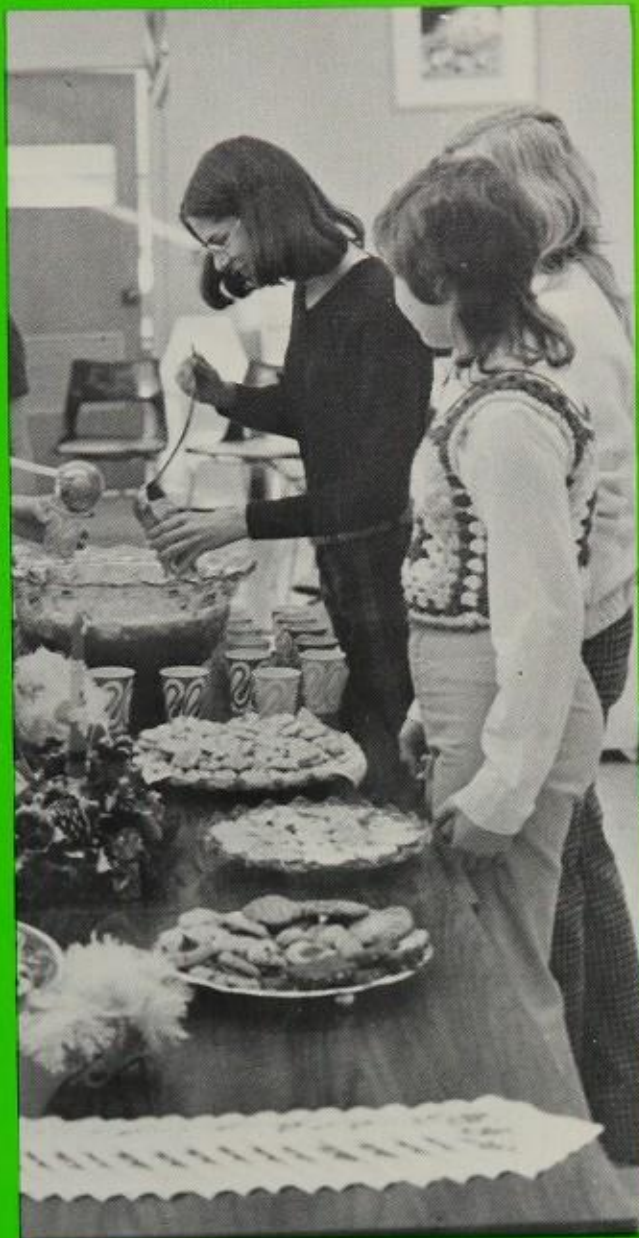

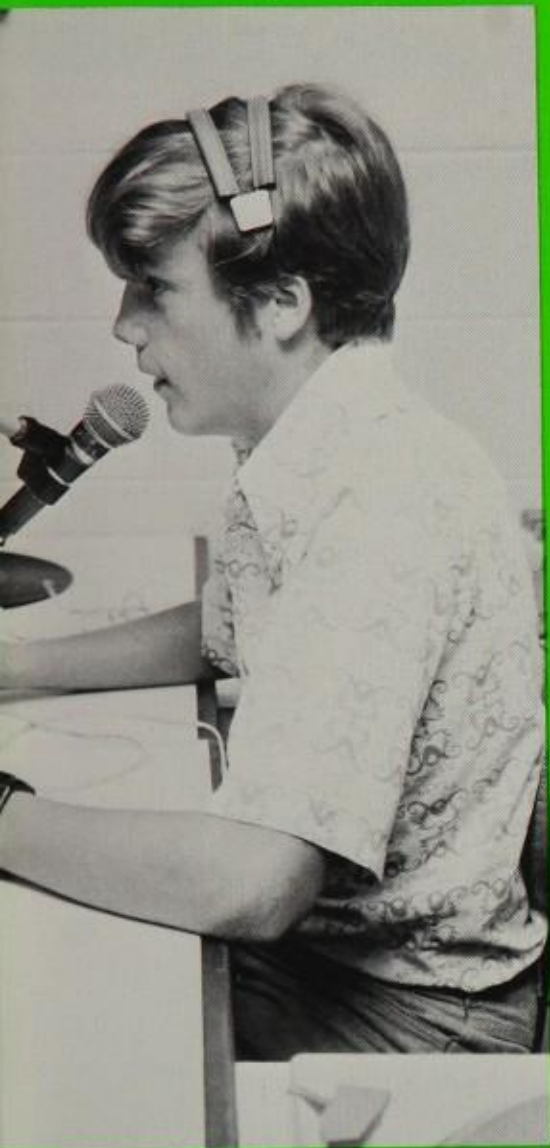

For some there is the attraction to physical as well as mental competition. The realm of physical activities is broad - depending upon the desires and interests of the individual. Our gym classes and sports clubs serve to expose us to previously unexperienced facets of physical education, our inter and intramurals, to a higher level of competition and sportsmanship, and our teams to a degree of personal and collective striving which can often lead to the acceptance of pain and disillusionment while in constant pursuit of the illusive element of self-satisfaction.

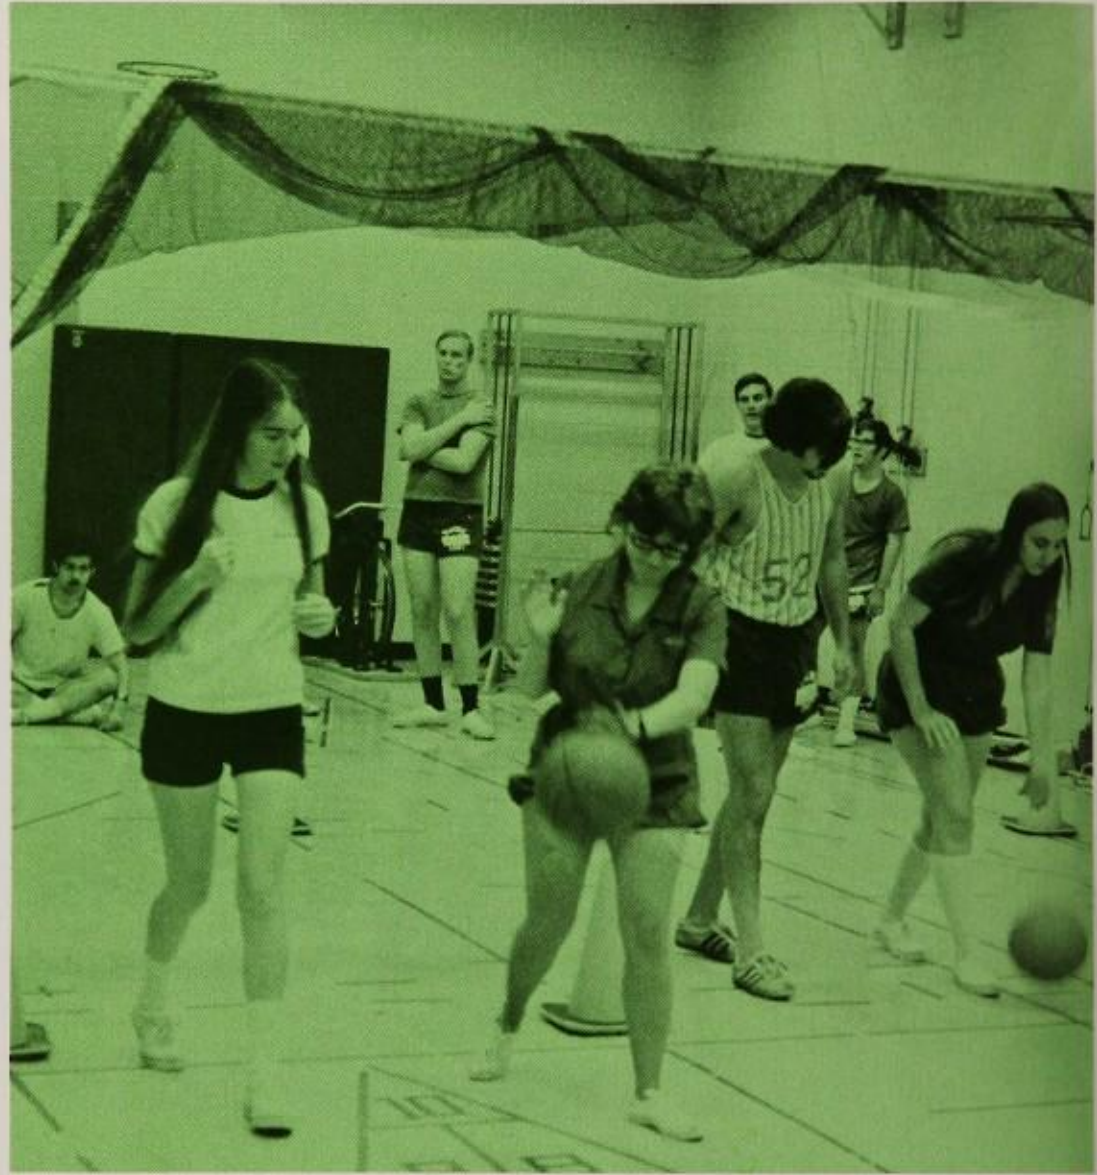

Others see fit to prepare themselves for careers and the future. They can begin by taking business or skill classes, joining business clubs and getting practical experience.

Or they may simply take part in such activities to increase exposure to the world outside, or perhaps develop experience to fall back on.

The course offerings are varied; the work program, realistic.

These programs offer a chance for trial - without committment, and exposure - without entrappment.

There are those whose wish to help seems to take precedent as they are given opportunities to devote their time for others' benefit.

The organization demanded to run a class or student council, the persistance necessary to head a club, the patience needed to teach a child, and the concern required to help the handicapped are all qualities which can be put to great advantage through the devotion of ourselves for the benefit of others - as well as the whole.

Perhaps the most important exposure at school is to other people - and to ourselves.

We are forced to cope, to develop our personalities - to act, interact, and react.

We are compelled to decide for ourselves,

To join . . . or remain alone.

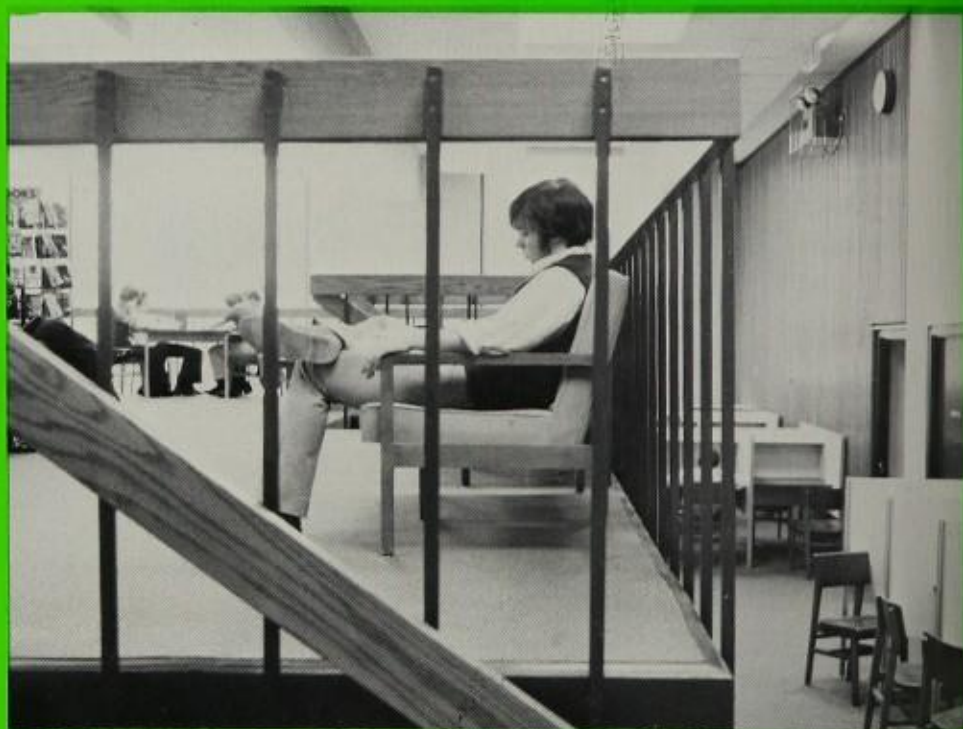

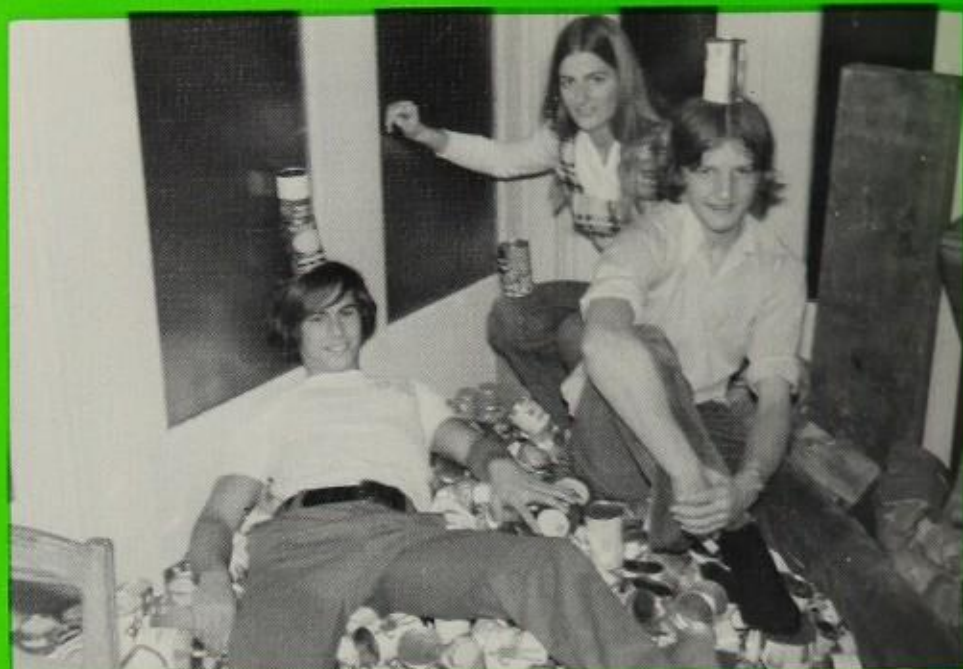

To be ourselves . . . or someone else.

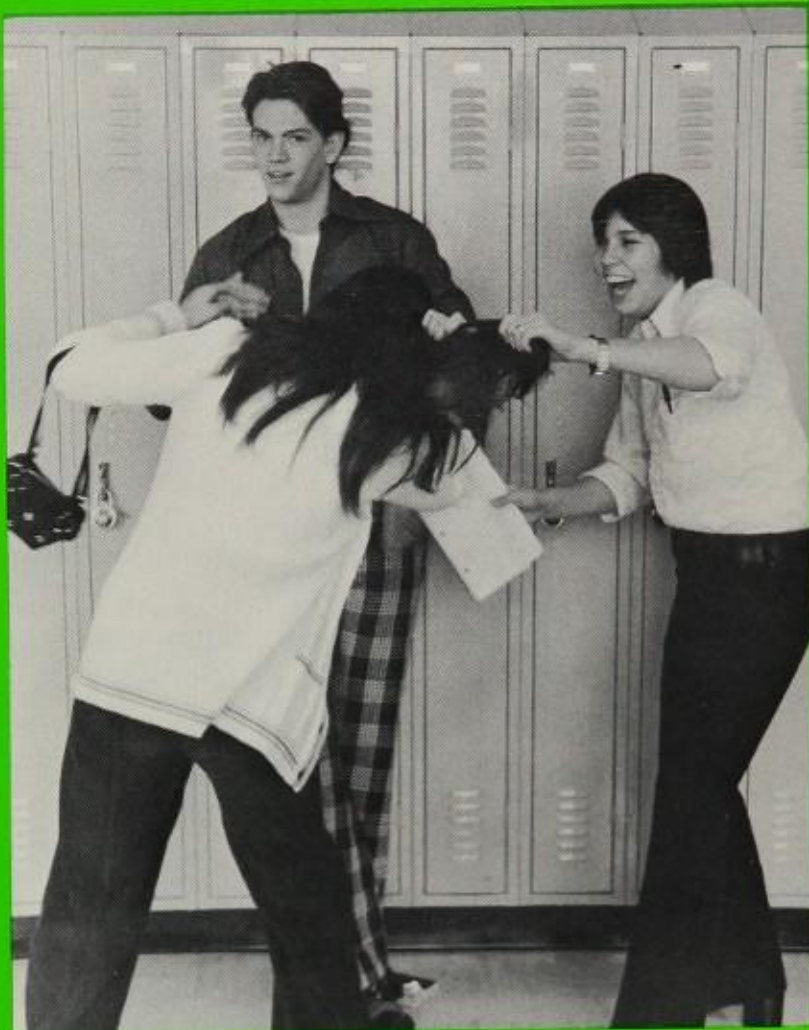

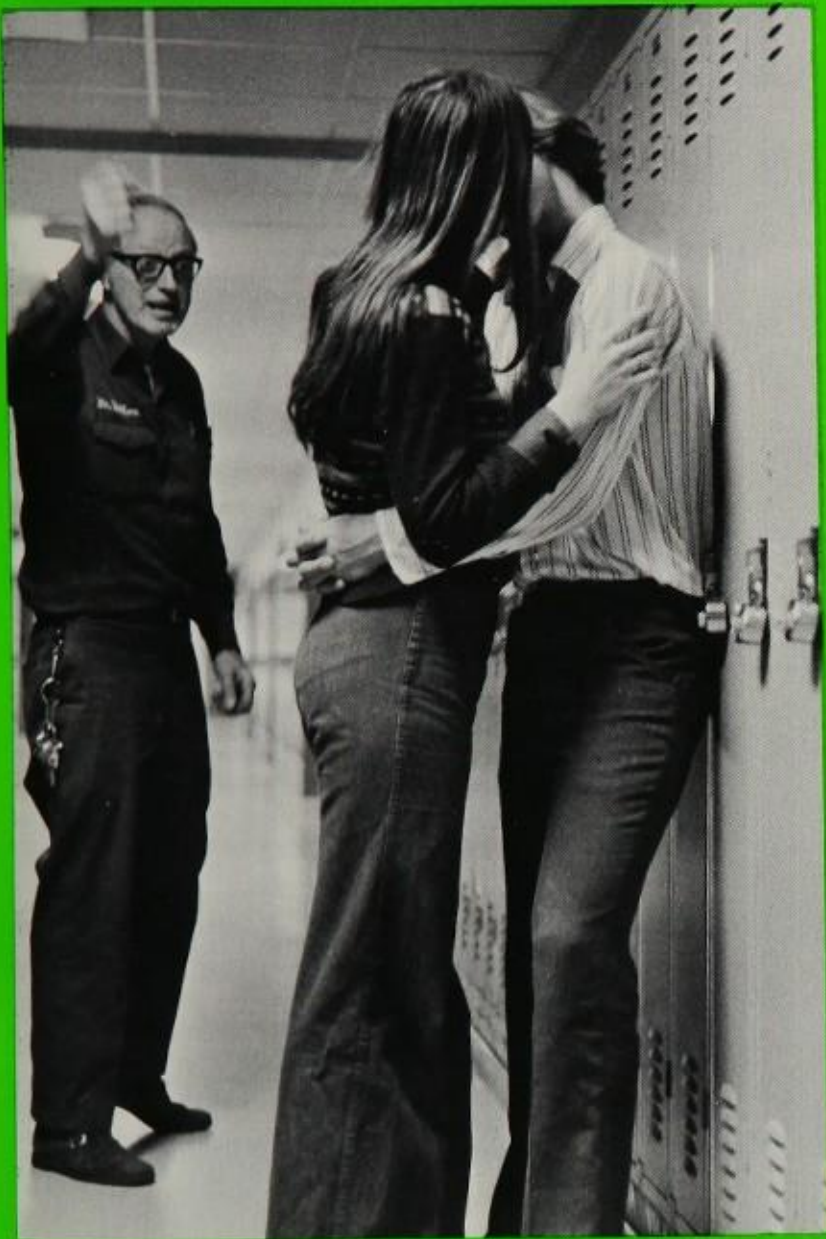

To care . . . or exist, unfeeling.

To speak out . . . or merely comply.

We must set out own values. We must make our own decisions.

We must establish our priorities.

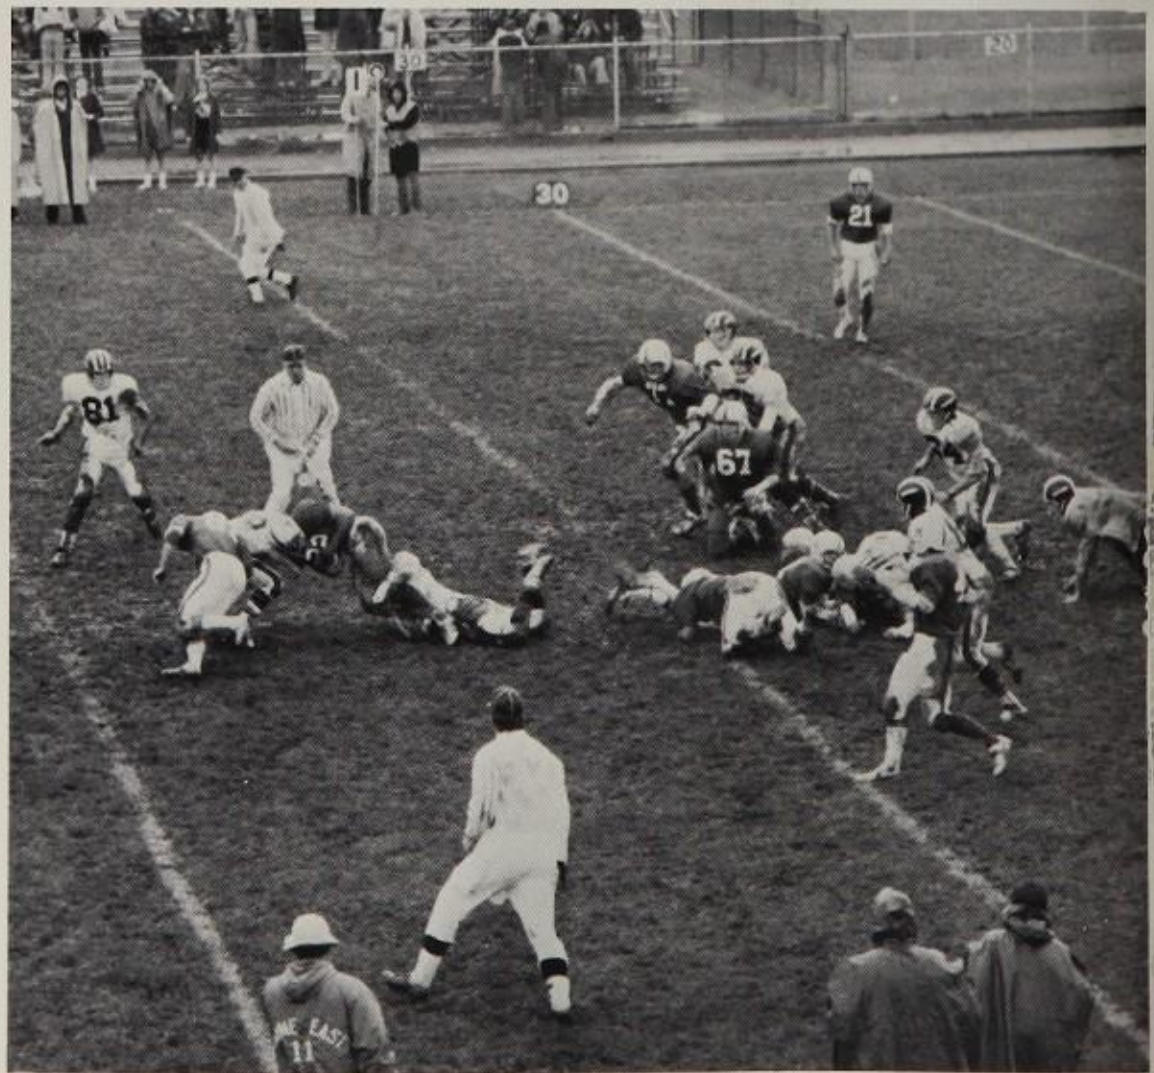

Upper right: Apathy is apparent as classes get a small turn out at floatbuilding. Juniors put in a late Friday night, but their efforts paid off with a second place for "Fe Fi Fo Fum, Look Out Norsemen, Here We Come."

Upper left: Skits and songs livened up the Rally, highlighted by the naming of the Court.

Homecoming '73 was truly 'A World of Fantasy' as Demons won their first Homecoming victory in 6 years and dance attendance exceeded Senior Class expectations. Even parade cancellation and indoor festivities couldn't dampen Homecoming spirits

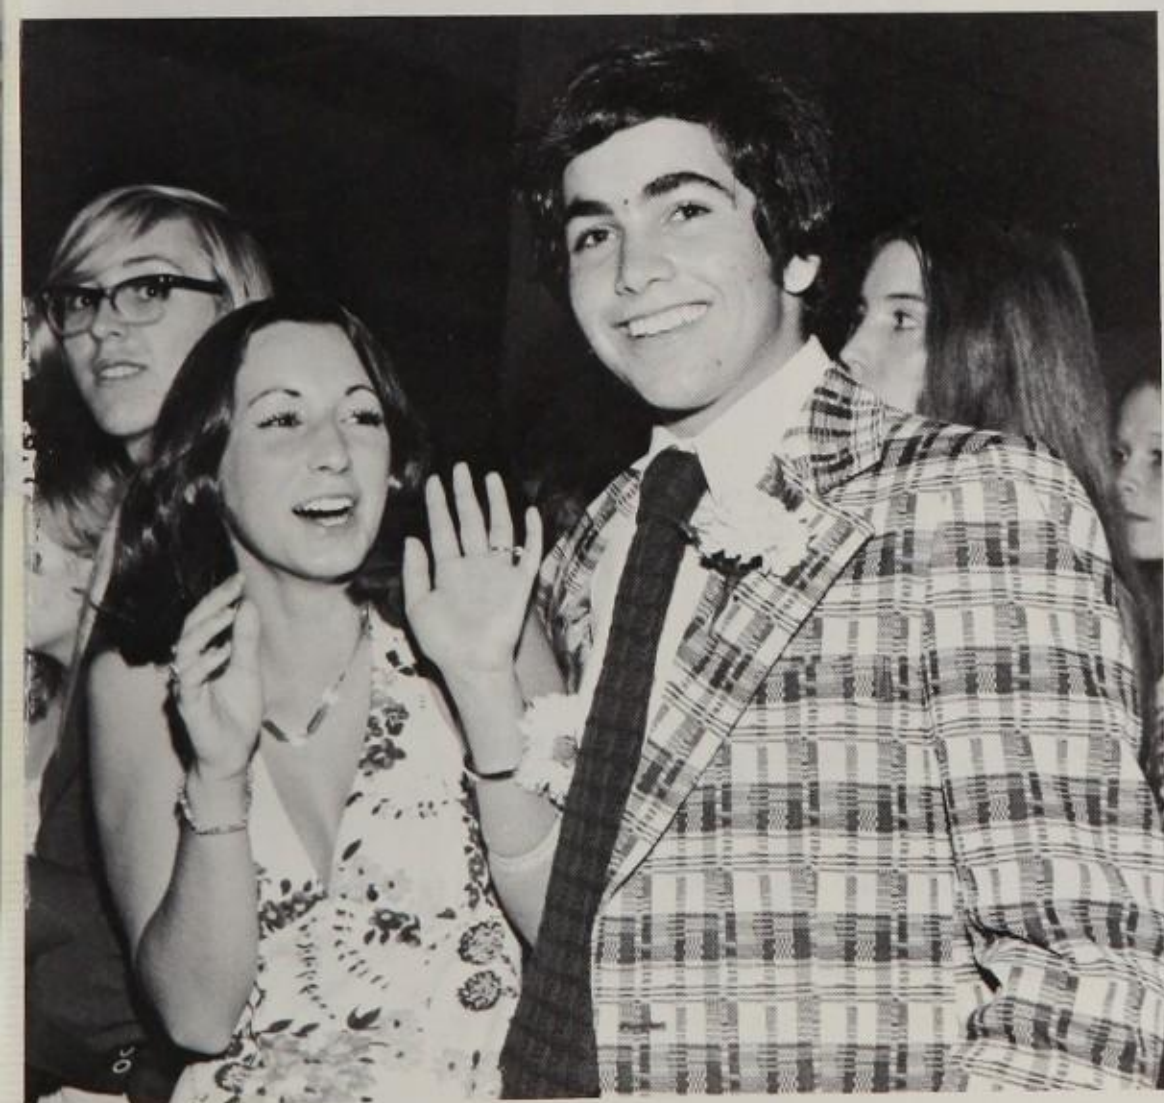

Bob Rinka carries for 4 against Maine North as Varsity Demons shut out Norsemen 26-0. Both freshmen and sophomore teams increased the number of homecoming victories, despite another year of dismal weather.

Upper: Homecoming Court included Bill Rizzo, Debbie Kramer, King Mike Donatucci, Queen Joy Matranza, Karen Hanrahan, Mark Franklin, Rosanne Goelz, and Carl Anderson.

Lower: Junior Carole Markin and Jeff Binstein are only one of the many couples who ventured "Beyond the Looking Glass." This year's homecoming dance boasted the highest attendance in the past several years.

*Upper Left and Right: Black leather jackets and bobby socks reigned, as excerpts from the oldies brought back memories in the nostalgic Greaser Greats of the 50's.

*Center: The Madrigal ensemble from Concert Choir performed In These Delightful Pleasant Groves and My Heart is Offered Still to You.

Lower: Senior Orchesis' contribution included Love is Dancing in "Love".

Love was not the only Four Letter Word characterizing V-Show 73 as a rambunctious audience applauded Love, Maine East Style.

Upper Left: The Jazz Band combined classical music and jazz in its musical rendition of Back to Bach and Back.
Upper Right: Brian Miku rebuffs the matrimonial offers of Sheri Zager as they portray Charles Schultz's infamous, Schroeder and Lucy, in Moonlight Sonata.
Lower: Lori Bender surprises the rest of the Gang, Larry Kleinstein, Terri Kummer, Sherrie Berenson and Marcy Forman and gets the coveted ballons in Hey, you got it?

Upper: Sarah's return to J.B. ends the play with the realization that it is love which makes the tragedy of life bearable.

Left: Stage Crew produced the effect of a circus atmosphere as they set up the stage in front of the audience.

Right: Rick Rohm and Marty Pistone, Mr. Zuss and Nickles, debate the roles they will enact in their portrayal of "Job".

Man's faith is tested as J.B. takes the stage

Upper: Newspapermen as the messengers arrive to inform J.B. and Sarah of the car accident in which their children were killed.
Lower: A contented J.B. and family partake of Thanksgiving dinner before Satan intervenes.

American tourists fall prey to a "comedy of errors" in Don't Drink the Water

Upper: Ambassador Magee returns to find that his son Axel has fouled up embassy affairs.

Lower Right: The Hollanders, American tourists on vacation in a small communist country, are trapped and held as spies by the communist police.

Lower Left: The Sultan of Bashir and one of his wives visit the American Embassy where the Hollanders have taken refuge.

FBLA sponsored faculty children's Christmas party

frosh team take 3rd in conference.

Sophomore wrestlers ended the season with a 2-3 conference record.
Placing 4th at both the
Notre Dame Tournament
and the Maine West
Invitational, Demon mat-men executed notable performances. Concluding their season with a 5-2
record, freshman wrestlers finished with a 3rd in conference.

Left: Free styler Rick Reeve, due to much practice, has become the most improved senior swimmer.

Center Right: Junior Lloyd Esses is only one of many of today's swimmers who must wear a bathing cap, due to length of his hair.

Right: Undefeated diver Chris Dickson displays good form as he executes a perfect dive.

Ending the season with a win against Maine North, varsity swimmers finished with a 1-4 conference record. Non-conference victories over Hersey and Proviso East highlighted the season. Undefeated diver Chris Dickson, will provide another exciting year.

Upper: Sophomore diver, Jeff Melilli, who took 3rd in the Christmas Invitational, straightens up as he anticipates a high score.
Center: Scott Schwandt, most improved Freshman, looks for the finish in an attempt to capture a first.

Led by swimmers Morgan and McKervey sophomore Mermen blazed their way to a 4-1 conference record, exclusive of their victory at the Maine East Invitational. Frosh concluded the season with a 1-4 conference standing.

PEOPLE

SENIORS

Disbelieving seniors recognize the passage of three years and, therefore, usually delve into specialized courses, taking advantage of their freedom; or decide upon a light schedule, enjoying a carefree year. As seniors spend their last year in the halls of Maine, they become nostalgic for the past - while at the same time, anxious about the future.

FRESHMEN

A totally unfamiliar environment can cause mass confusion as freshmen attempt to cope with a myriad of new situations. Although still somewhat limited by required courses, previously unknown, academic freedom is thrust upon them as they enter high school.

FACULTY

Much of a student's inclination towards and success in learning depends upon the manner and atmosphere in which the material is presented. The faculty, therefore, plays an essential part in the development of a student's interests and the degree to which he follows them.

Standing: Mr. J. Means, Mr. R. Makela, Mr. E. Hoy McConnell, Mr. L. Grazian. Seated: Mr. R. Claus, Mr. W. Wuehrmann.

The Editor-In-Chief

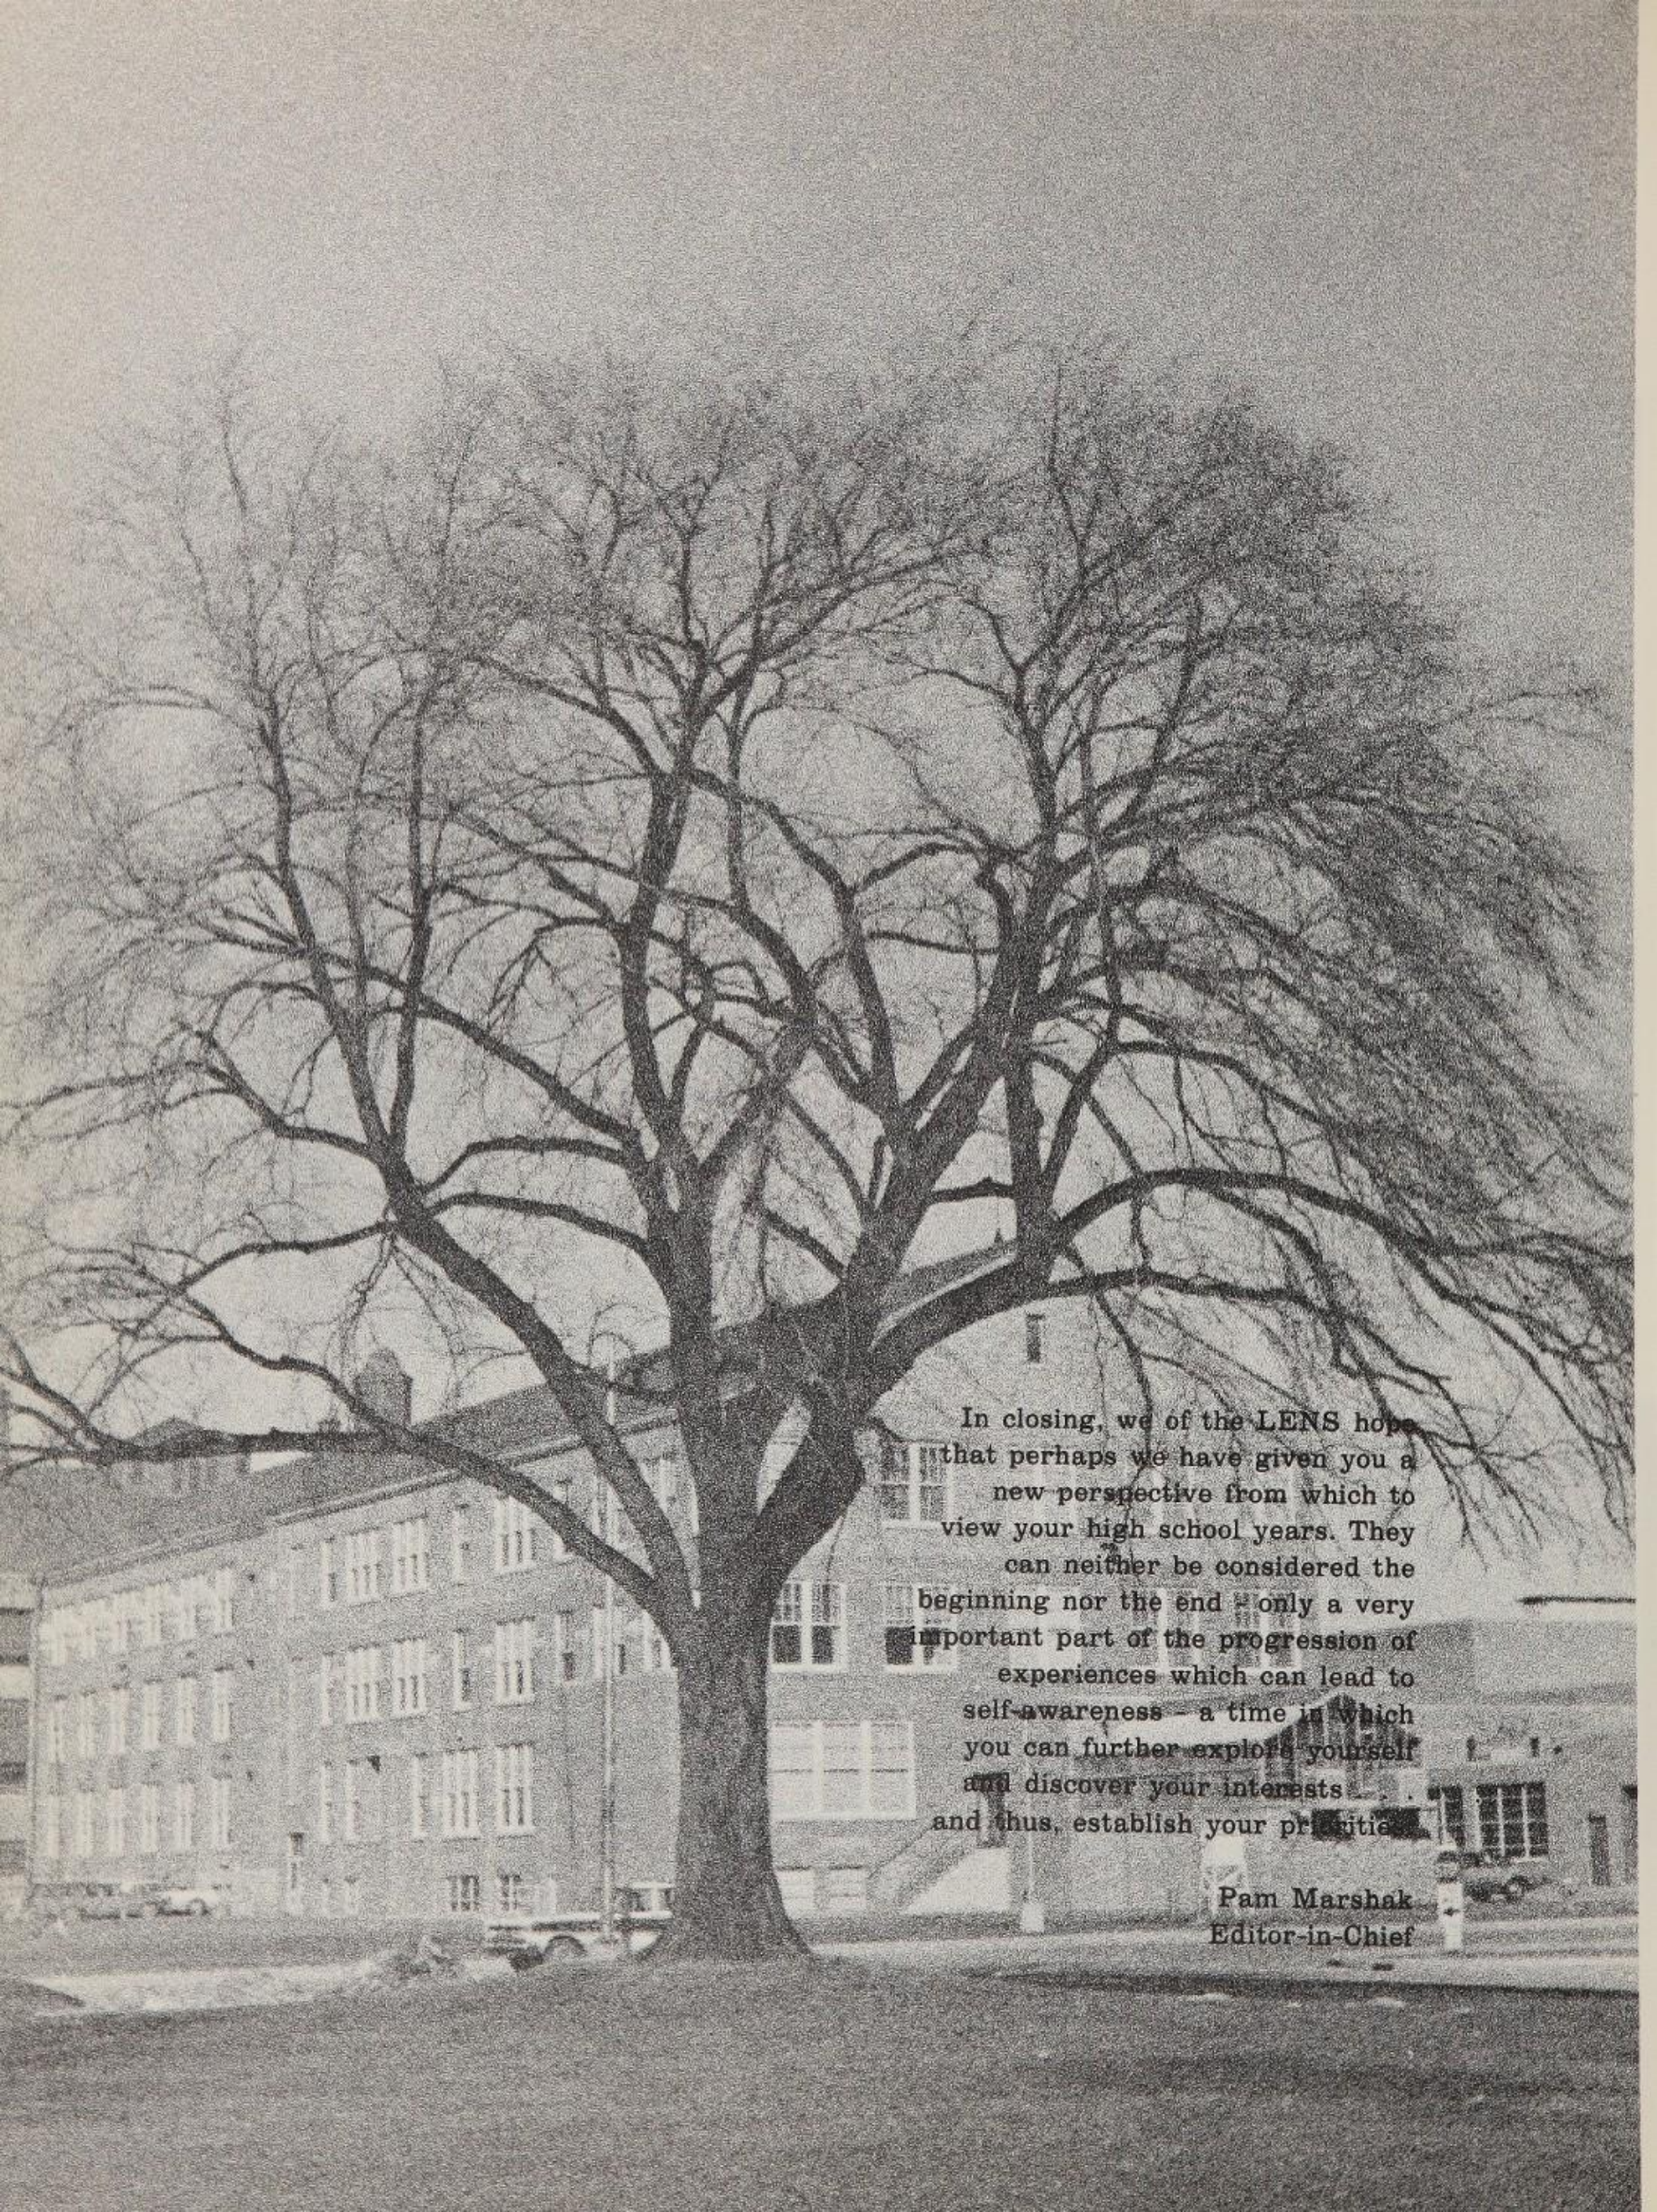

Thank-you.

These are two little words that seem so worn-out, so meaningless. I wish I could think of some better ones for at this time of expressing gratitude, I find their inadequacy especially hard to accept. Nevertheless, I must use them, but I say them with my heart, in hope that my meaning can overcome their usual insignificance.

And so, to my staff, who has had to put up with me for a whole year; To Liz and Sue, for their assistance which was so essential to my sanity; To Miss Wit, who has expanded my concepts of friendship and dedication, and has shared with me my defeats and victories even more this year than ever before; To Mr. Moorhead and Root Studios for their help; And to Koz, Bush, Trish, and my ever-present little cloud, as well as to all of my friends without whose invaluable comfort and understanding deadlines would have been even more impossible, I say Thank-you.

The Advisor

In closing, we of the LENS hope that perhaps we have given you a new perspective from which to view your high school years. They can neither be considered the beginning nor the end - only a very important part of the progression of experiences which can lead to self-awareness - a time in which you can further explore yourself and discover your interests and thus, establish your priorities.
